

Summary: Through the execution of assessments in many courses, it has become apparent that the development of a common rubric standard for performance (both in number of levels and wording that is common if a student performs at 100% levels) in activity level courses is essential to improved evaluation of our students. The department will be moving to develop and implement standard levels of performance for each course. The goal will be to have each course use the same number of levels and the same terminology for each of those levels. This does not impact what skills are being measured. The department will develop this new instrument by 2013-14.

PHED C101

Revised course. Will be assessed in the Fall of 2012
